

Participate in a design exercise and earn a First travel ticket worth £19.50

We are researchers at the University of Aberdeen and we are looking for participants to help us understand what people think about internet-connected devices and what they would like to know about their capabilities.

People selected to participate in this activity will be given a travel ticket worth £19.50 which allows 10 single journeys on the First Aberdeen network.

This invitation is open to anyone, no matter what level of technology expertise you have.

For more information please contact: e.pignotti@abdn.ac.uk or visit the link: <http://cfp.cc/55YC51>